Mystery

Languedoc is one of the most varied areas in France. Towering mountains, deep gorges, forests & caves, wild remote plateaus as well as the Mediterranean Sea. This predominately rural area also has a very rich history - castles, cathedrals, museums and so much more. The area is also rich in a variety of vineyards and wines. Mountains frame both ends of the region - the Cevennes in the northeast & the Pyrenees in the south. Jagged ridges, deep river canyons and rocky limestone plateau (with vast caves beneath) make it one of the most scenic.

Another main feature of this area is the havoc caused by religious and political conflicts over the centuries. The ruined castles which cling precariously to hilltops played a leading role in the struggles between Cathars & Catholics at the beginning of the 13th century. Others guarded the volatile border with Spain. Whole communities were wiped out during the merciless campaigns to rid the area of the Cathar 'heretics' and later when Protestants fought for religious freedom. Also the area is rich in mystery - Rennes-le-Chateau, Knights Templar and possible treasure, the Holy Grail mystery, leylines and geometric alignments on the land, Nazi treasure hunters, and so much more.

Provence has a lot of beauty as well as Mary Magdalene mystery.

Optional extension is the Pyrenees to include Spa Hotel, Walled City & Collioure on the Mediterranean

Tentative Itinerary

(order of days may change depending on hotel availability)

Day 1 - 3 - Arrive at Marseilles airport and travel east in Provence to St. Maximin la Ste Baume., at the base of the Ste. Baume mountains (said to be final resting place of Mary Magdalene)

Here is the St. Madeleine Basilica (Mary Magdalene is said to have come here after the death of Jesus, and then died in St. Baume). We will see the sarcophagus of St. Mary Magdalene as well as visit the Grotto of Marie Madeleine, after a 45 minute walk through the forest once held sacred by the druids. Ste Mary Magdalene is supposed to have lived here in this grotto. Mary Magdelene is patron saint of Provence. Overnight 2 nights here.

Day 3 - Leave this area and travel west to Saintes-Maries-de-la-Mer on the Mediterranean Coast (alleged landing site of Mary Magdalene after being cast adrift after the crucifixion - also venerated by Gypsies). Gypsies gather yearly in Saintes-Maries-de-la-Mer for a religious festival in honor of Saint Sarah also known as Sara-la-Kali (Sara the black). Some say this is a handmaiden to Mary Magdalene and some say a daughter. We will visit the St. Sarah Crypt. Sara's statue is situated in the crypt of the church, at the right of the altar. She wears a multicoloured dress and jewels. Continue on to the west to Carcassonne area. Overnight here next 4 nights.

Day 4 - Breakfast. Further orientation to the area, the tour and teachings on the Cathars & other mysteries. Journey to village of Alet le Bains on the beautiful River Aude for picnic lunch and then visit to Puilaurens castle high on the mountain.

Day 5 - Breakfast. Morning teachings on the Black Madonna, Mary Magdalene, Sacred Feminine, Knights Templar, & Bloodline of Christ. Morning visit to the Black Madonna & healing well at Marceille. Afternoon in the nearby, impressive, old walled city of Carcassonne with its wonderful turrets & vistas. Today we will make our way through this wonderful land of gorges and vineyards through small villages, the magnificent gorge of Galamus, to the incredible Cathar castle of Peyreperouse (one of the least-ruined castles of the area built high on a rocky crest in the 12th-century. The ruins are spread along a 900-1000 foot long ridge). Time to hike to the top for those who desire. Breathtaking views & an exhilarating experience. We also will be able to see Queribus (a very impressive site perched on a rocky crag 2200 feet high above the village. This site was first recorded in 1020 and was a Cathar stronghold in the 13th century. Overnight in Esperaza

Day 8 - Afternoon visit to the incredible Grotte de Niaux - incredible cave with ancient cave paintings. Extensive galleries have been excavated in this network of caves halfway up a steep rocky hillside south of Tarascon-sur-Ariege. The well-preserved prehistoric paintings in them are the best of all those discovered so far in 23 caves in the area. Dating from paleolithic times, around 12,000 BC, they depict mainly animals - bison, ibex, deer & horses - all neatly outlined in black and red. Visitors restricted to 200 persons per day to help preserve the cave & paintings. This is always a highlight of our tour! Overnight in Foix area tonight

Day 9 - Breakfast & check out of hotel. visit to area of Montsegur - viewing &/or visit to Montsegur - ruined castle on 1000 foot crag. This site provided refuge for over 200 Cathars in 1244 during the Albigensian Crusade until they were martyred on a burning pyre. Speculation continues as to whether Cathar treasure is hidden on the site! Later afternoon travel to Toulouse airport area for overnight and flights home on Day 10 or continue on with us up into the Pyrenees for the optional extension.

Gypsies & Saintes-Maries-de-la-Mer

Gypsies come from all over Europe and even from other continents to worship their Saint, Sara the Black. They settle in the squares, at the seaside. For a week or more, they feel at home. The pilgrimage is also the opportunity to meet up again and most of the children are baptised in the church of the Saints.

Once the shrine is taken down on May 24, Sara's statue is carried by the gypsies to the sea, to symbolise the waiting and the welcoming of the Saintes Maries de la Mer by Sara, patroness of the gypsies. Then the procession goes back to the church with delight expressed by cheers, musical instruments and the peal of church bells. <http://www.saintesmaries.com>

We will be visiting the southern half of the yellow area to the right as well as a portion of the area just to the west bordering the yellow area.
